

Canada Post Strike Information

Did you know that SaskEnergy has a number of ways to meet your needs for finding out how much you owe and alternative ways to pay your bill instead of mailing it in?

Even if you do not receive a mailed bill due to the interruption of postal services you are still responsible for making your monthly bill payments. Please see the options below for access to your billing information and payment options:

→How to find out how much you owe

Sign up for SaskEnergy's convenient online service option, My Account. My Account provides secure online access to your SaskEnergy bill at any time, from anywhere.

Other My Account benefits include:

- Up to 24 months of billing history online
- The option to manage bills for your home, cottage or business all in one place.
- The most current updates on promotions and programs
- Plus, the paperless billing option sends an email notice when your bill is ready to view, including the amount you owe.

Sign up for My Account to view your SaskEnergy bill online. It only takes a few minutes to get started.

You can also find out how much you owe by calling SaskEnergy at 1-800-567-8899.

→How to pay your bill

During a postal strike, there are still two easy ways to pay your bill.

With just your SaskEnergy account number and the amount owing you can pay:

1. Through your Financial Institution online or by phone.
2. Sign up for the Pre-Authorized Payment Plan where you enjoy the convenience of having your payment automatically withdrawn from your bank account.

If you have your paper bill and the attached bill stub, in addition to the options above, you can also pay in person at your Financial Institution during regular business hours.
